The ShED Forum

EDUCATE | EMPOWER | EXCEL

The ShED Forum is a community-based organization dedicated to empowering the deprived and marginalized Shershahbadi community through higher education.

ABOUT US

The ShED Forum (Shershahbadi Educational Dialogue Forum) is a community-led educational initiative established in 2018 that advances educational awareness and promotes higher education among the Shershahbadi community, which faces significant educational and socio-economic challenges and remains underrepresented in higher education institutions. The forum believes that education is the most powerful instrument for overcoming marginalization, expanding opportunities, and enabling sustainable social progress.

By fostering dialogue, mentorship, guidance, and educational awareness, the Forum seeks to inspire students to pursue higher education and realize their academic aspirations. We believe that empowering individuals through education is the most effective pathway to strengthening the community as a whole and ensuring its meaningful participation in the broader social, intellectual, and economic life of the nation.

VISION

To foster an educated, empowered, and progressive Shershahbadi community, equipped to participate fully and confidently in the academic, social, and economic mainstream through the transformative power of education.

MISSION

- To promote higher education as a catalyst for individual and community advancement.
- To provide guidance, mentorship, and educational support to students aspiring to pursue higher studies.
- To cultivate awareness about educational opportunities, academic pathways, and personal development.
- To strengthen the representation of the community in institutions of higher education and other spheres of knowledge and leadership.
- To contribute to the long-term social upliftment of the community through educational empowerment and collective progress.

OUR COMMITMENTS

At ShED Forum, we are committed to fostering a culture of learning, aspiration, and educational excellence within the Shershahbadi communit. We believe that meaningful and lasting social change begins with education. Through sustained engagement, guidance, and collective effort, we strive to expand access to higher education and to create opportunities that enable individuals to realize their full potential.

OUR INITIATIVE

The ShED Forum undertakes a range of educational initiatives aimed at expanding access to higher education and creating opportunities for students from the Shershahbadi community.

At the core of our work is the SCG Center, which provides free academic support, coaching, and guidance to students.

The Forum conducts ground campaigns to identify students at the grassroots level and connect them with educational opportunities. Through our Career Counseling and Admission Help Desk initiatives, students receive assistance in choosing academic pathways, understanding admission procedures, and navigating opportunities in universities and colleges across the country. Our mentorship programs provide continuous support to students through experienced mentors who guide them in their academic and professional journeys.

The Forum also promotes personal growth through its English Spoken Program, which focuses on communication and soft-skill development.
In addition, the Alumni Connect initiative creates a strong network of graduates and professionals who help students with subject selection, higher studies, career planning, and personal development.

Beyond academic initiatives, the forum organizes annual events such as International Women's Day Celebrations,and Foundation Day Celebrations, which bring together students, alumni, and community members to reflect on achievements and strengthen collective commitment to educational empowerment.

The forum facilitates financial aid support through contributions from alumni, patrons, founders, and well-wishers.
Through these initiatives, ShED Forum continues to build a supportive ecosystem that encourages learning, mentorship, leadership, and educational advancement within the community.

IDEA BEHIND SHED FORUM

The Idea of ShED Forum (Shershahbadi Educational Dialogue Forum) emerged when a few Shershahbadi students at Maulana Azad National Urdu University (MANUU) realized that students from their community were extremely limited in higher education. This highlighted the distance between the Shershahbadi community and universities.

Primarily residing in Seemanchal, Bihar, and parts of West Bengal and Jharkhand, the community has long faced educational and socio-economic challenges. Lack of awareness, guidance, exposure, and opportunities often prevented talented and aspiring students from accessing higher education.

The Forum was envisioned as a bridge connecting students with information, guidance, mentorship, and opportunities. Its core principle was that every student who secures university admission should help at least one more student enter higher education the following year, creating a culture of mentorship and collective responsibility.

International Women's Day was intentionally chosen as its Foundation Day, reflecting the Forum's commitment to improving women's participation in higher education, which remained extremely limited.

Today, The Forum continues its founding vision of reducing the distance between the community and universities. What began as a small initiative has grown into an educational movement involving students, alumni, mentors, and community members committed to education, empowerment, opportunity, and social progress.

OUR PRESENCE

The ShED Forum has established its presence across the Seemanchal region of Bihar, as well as in parts of West Bengal and Jharkhand, where the Shershahbadi community resides. In addition to its grassroots presence, the Forum has built student units in various universities to strengthen student support, guidance, and networking.

Through these university units, ShED Forum provides students with guidance, mentorship, and support related to higher education and academic opportunities.
